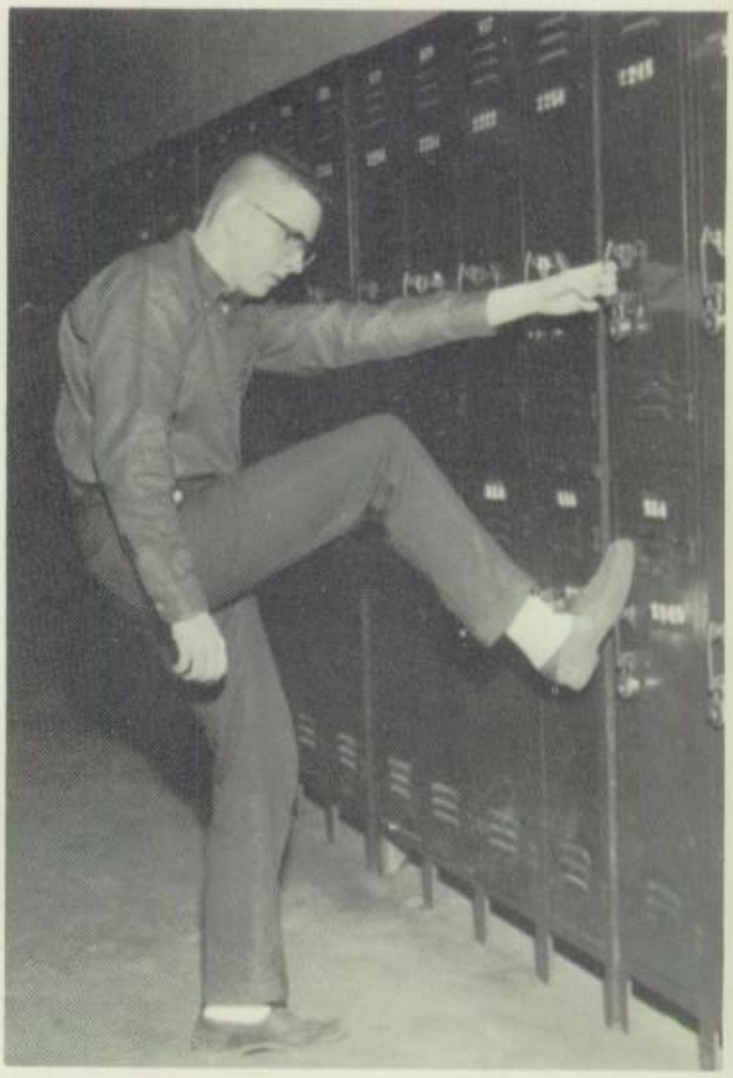
The 1964 Jacket

These times belong to us . . .

So those who work diligently . . .



Patience, fortitude, and self-control are necessary for mastering the mechanics of lockers.

Basketball comes along in our year, and both teams play hard.

The crowded halls -- integral part of school life.

We have entered these doors many times--

And the rain came . . .

changing seasons . . .

Biology field trips provide much fun, a legitimate way of getting out of class, and very little study of biology.

Wonder if they're cold?

The most pleasant part of the day.

Can we have them above the knees?

cheerful

times

together . . .

Cheerleaders help bolster school-spirit.

The Honor Society Tea is a time of excitement.

Tomorrow's journalists

Wonder what they're concentrating on?

The challenge to sing challenging times of learning . . .

Building strong minds

These students seem to realize that studying is a necessary evil.

Pathway to knowledge

Moods of

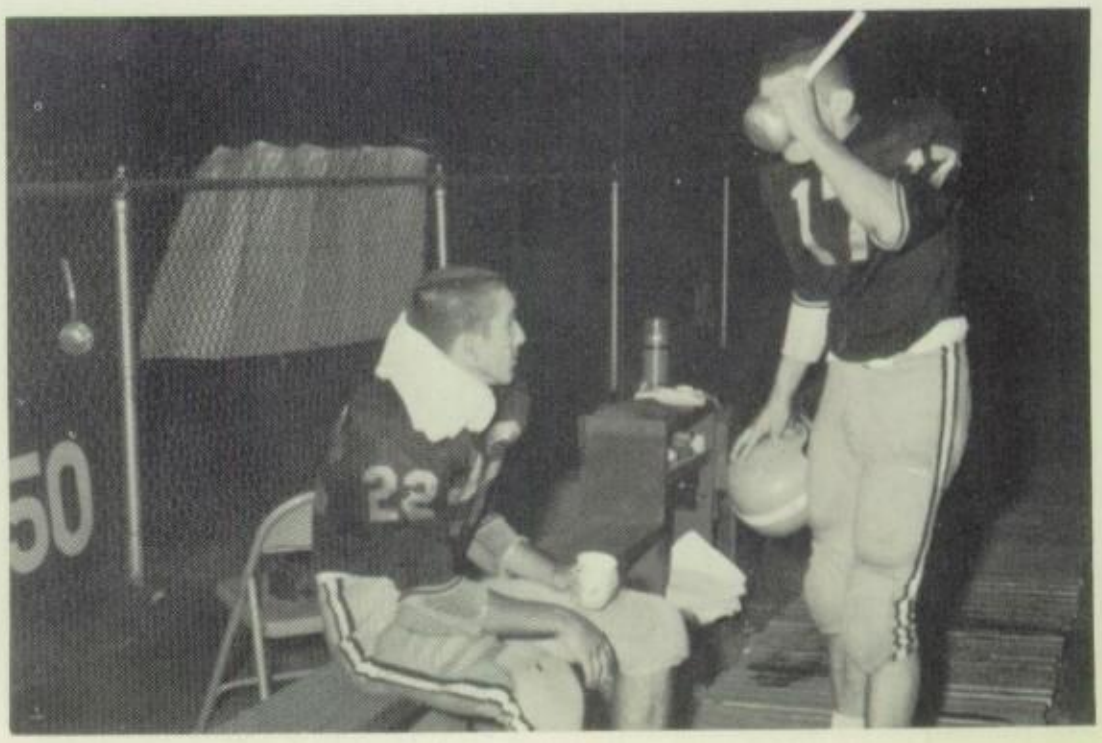
History's not so bad

Honor Society Tapping

A quiet hour of the day

solitude and hope

Leisure moments for a weary player



An anxious moment

Thus ends another year of high school, and for many this is the last.

Participation in our activities were our gayest moments.

and ever changing times.

The last assemblies, although enjoyable, hold a twinge of sadness for the seniors.

They prepare for the business world ahead.

To them we owe our success in life.

MR. ROBERT L. PENNINGTON

In Grateful Recognition of Service Time and Self

THE JACKET is proudly dedicated to a person for whom everyone has the greatest admiration and respect. As a teacher and friend of the students at Ensley High, he has done much to instill in them those qualities which will best suit them for their roles as mature adults.

His understanding, patience, and wisdom have suited him well for his guidance work, and any problem, large or small, gets the same friendly, intelligent considerations. As a science teacher his enthusiasm and knowledge have helped students to gain an interesting insight into this subject. His abilities are also exhibited in the capable leadership and guidance he has given as Boys' Adviser.

We know him as a person whose principles and integrity have served both him and each of us as a guide in our education and daily life. For all these things, we proudly and gratefully dedicate THE 1964 JACKET to our friend, teacher, and principal, Mr. Robert L. Pennington.

Foreword

Our lives, like the fashions and styles of today, are in a state of constant change. Looking back over our four years in high school, we can recall many momentous changes in our lives each year: our teachers, our school, our interests, our activities, our attitudes--all have changed. We also have learned values that do not change over the years--knowledge, morals, and deep friendships.

We, the JACKET STAFF, have tried to record a part of our memories at Ensley High School, from our first day as Freshmen to our last day as Seniors in our 1964 edition of "The Jacket."

The same old smile.

He was president of the Honor Society!

Even Philip Martin couldn't do that good.

Gosh, I wish I were that tall!

Why there's old Penhead himself on the back row the third from the left.

He had a girl in every port.

And he wanted to be a traveling salesman.

Though at first overwhelmed by the tremendous task which lay before us, we grew steadily, so that each year we moved closer toward our common goal. We used all our wiles against the villain, Work; became involved in the intricate plot of classwork and assignments; and proudly assumed the hero's role when we took home A's.

We yelled for our teams in an atmosphere of electric excitement. We raised rough-house under classroom windows. Our feet were huge and heavy, our voices shrill and rasping. We were loud, and boisterous, and completely unbearable.

Everyone became familiar with the strange sensation of fear, the sudden fear--most common at the crucial point of a game, the gnawing fear that lingered while a test was being administered. We learned to act in a crisis.

In our relaxed moments we were the happiest individuals alive. In seconds we could exchange the thoughts of an unpleasant previous hour for lively conversation.

Soon, for the last time, we will appear as star performers before this audience. The final curtain will go down. We will take our bows. And the great play on which our lives have been centered for the last four years, will be over in a single night. Some of the actors, weary of the demanding schedule, are thankful that the end is near. But whether it is with quickened step or with reluctant tread that we leave, we are, nevertheless, grateful to those who have directed us in our first major roles.
